IN THE NEWS:

Tommy Henrich, Yankee outfielder who joined the Coast Guard a week ago has been given a specialist, first class, rating and assigned to active duty. The 26-year-old Yankee star played his last game in Detroit last Saturday after being a regular with the club since 1937. He was sworn in by the Coast Guard Aug. 24.

Roger Peckinpough, vice-president of the Cleveland Indians, would like to have a looksee at three Negro ball players, Parnell Woods, third baseman, Eugene Bremmer, pitcher, and Sam Jethroe, outfielder, all of the Cleveland Buckeyes of the Negro National League. No definite promise has been given the players, but there is possibility they will try out with the Tribe during Spring training.

Josh Gibson, sometimes called the greatest Negro catcher in the game today, will lead the Homestead Grays into Ebbets Field Sunday for a doubleheader against the Newark Eagles. The Grays, seeking their seventh straight title, are in first place in the National Negro League. Gibson, together with his teammates, outfielder Sammy Bankhead and Willie Wells, manger and shortstop, and Leon Day, pitcher of the Eagles, have been recommended for a trial with the Pirates.

Ken (Dutch) Auer, former Fordham speedballer and now fighting fires for the City of Manhattan, will pitch for the Firemen in their annual clash with the Sanitation White Wings Sunday at the Yankee Stadium.
